CONTENTS OF VOLUME 12

No. 1, March 1985

EEG and evoked potential changes during gas and liquid-breathing dives to 1000 msw
D. J. Harris, R. R. Coggin, J. Roby, G. Turner, and P. B. Bennett 1
CNS reactions at 51 ATA on trimix and heliox and during decompression
R. Værnes, D. Hammerborg, B. Ellertsen, R. Peterson, and S. Tønjun 25
Air and nitrox saturation decompression: a report of 4 schedules and 77 subjects
R. G. Eckenhoff and R. D. Vann 41
Tissue distribution of penicillin during constant rate infusion in rats at 71 ATA
L. Aanderud and O. M. Bakke 53
Fetal and maternal bubbles detected noninvasively in sheep and goats following hyperbaric decompression
M. R. Powell and M. T. Smith 59
Evaluation of oral problems in divers performing electrical welding and cutting under water
T. W. Ortendahl, G. Dahlén, and H. O. E. Rockert 69
Damage to the middle ear and the inner ear in underwater divers
K. E. Money, I. P. Buckingham, I. M. Calder, W. H. Johnson, J. D. King, J. P. Landolt, J. Laufer, and H. Ludman 77
Thermal environmental monitoring of divers using a twelve channel multiplexing instrument
C. Weller and R. J. Dyson 85

Book Review

Underwater medicine and related sciences. A guide to the literature, Volume 6. C. W. Shilling and L. E. Teven.
Reviewed by Arthur J. Bachrach 93
Abstracts 95

No. 2, June 1985

Origin and time course of gas bubbles following rapid decompression in the hamster
P. R. Lynch, M. Brigham, R. Tuma, and M. P. Wiedeman 105
Effect of high ambient pressure and oxygen tension on organ blood flow in conscious trained rats
C. Hordnes and I. Tyssebotn 115
Pulmonary atelectasis formation during diving with closed-circuit oxygen breathing apparatus
G. O. Dahlbäck and U. I. Balldin 129

Diving bradycardia and breath-holding time in man
J. A. Sterba and C. E. G. Lundgren 139
Hyperbaric liver dysfunction in saturation divers
G. R. Doran, L. Chaudry, A. O. Brubakk, and M. P. Garrard 151
Autopsy and experimental observations on factors leading to barotrauma in man
I. M. Calder 165
Extremes in human breath hold, facial immersion bradycardia
R. W. Arnold 183
Age specific morbidity and mortality rates among U.S. Navy enlisted divers and controls
A. Hoiberg and C. Blood 191
Preemployment medical examinations in a compressed air tunneling project in Hong Kong
T. H. Lam, K. P. Yau, and E. Y. Y. Tse 205
Modification of scuba regulator for IPPV
T. J. Poulton, E. K. Littleton, and J. Raudenbush 215

Letter to the Editor 221

Book Review

Key documents of the biomedical aspects of deep sea diving, 5 volumes. Undersea Medical Society, Bethesda, MD.
Reviewed by Robert C. Bornmann 223
Abstracts 227

No. 3, September 1985

Statistical aspects of the design and testing of decompression tables
L. D. Homer and P. K. Weathersby 239
Light and electron microscopic alterations in spinal cord myelin sheaths after decompression sickness
J. J. W. Sykes and L. J. Yaffe 251
Effects of halothane and hydrostatic pressure on sodium channels in squid axon
J. Parmentier, B. Shrivastav, and P. B. Bennett 259
Oxygen in the treatment of spinal cord decompression sickness
D. R. Leitch and J. M. Hallenbeck 269
Pressure in the treatment of spinal cord decompression sickness
D. R. Leitch and J. M. Hallenbeck 291
In vitro efficacy of Otic Domeboro against Pseudomonas aeruginosa
W. L. Dibb 307
Hearing loss with frequent diving (deaf divers)
C. Edmonds 315
Intellectual deterioration with excessive diving (punch drunk divers)
C. Edmonds and J. Boughton 321
Doppler bubble detection and decompression sickness: a prospective clinical trial
C. G. Bayne, W. S. Hunt, D. C. Johanson, E. T. Flynn, and P. K. Weathersby 327
Hearing acuity in professional divers
O. I. Molvær and E. H. Lehmann 333
Analyses of variables underlying U.S. Navy diving accidents
C. Blood and A. Hoiberg 351

INCORRECT MONTH, SHOULD READ DECEMBER 1985.

Book Reviews

Living and working in the sea. J. W. Miller and I. G. Koblick.
Reviewed by Andrew A. Pilmanis
Medical images and displays: comparisons of nuclear magnetic resonance, ultrasound, x-rays, and other modalities. R. Stuart Mackay.
Reviewed by Michael H. Reid 361
Abstracts 363

No. 4, September 1985

Effects of inert gas narcosis on behavior—a critical review
B. Fowler, K. N. Ackles, and G. Porlier 369
A review of the pathophysiology and potential application of experimental therapies for cerebral ischemia to the treatment of cerebral arterial gas embolism
A. Dutka 403
Effect of propranolol on brain electrical activity during hyperbaric oxygenation in the rat
D. Torbati 423
Effects of hyperbaric treatment on carbon monoxide elimination in humans
J. S. Britten and R. A. M. Myers 431
Diving pattern of Tsushima male breath-hold divers (Katsugi)
K. Shiraki, N. Konda, S. Sagawa, Y. S. Park, T. Komatsu, and S. K. Hong 439
Hyperbaric oxygen therapy for radiation myelitis
T. J. Poulton and R. L. Witcofski 453
Facial baroparesis: a report of five cases
S. Eidsvik and O. I. Molvær 459
Optimal siting of heat flux transducers for the assessment of body heat loss when immersed in water
P. Y. Bell, E. H. Padbury, and P. A. Hayes 465

Letter to the Editor 485

Book Reviews 487
Abstracts 491